

A PACKAGE FOR MICROCHIPS

Abstract of the Invention

A package for protecting an integrated circuit device having an active side. The package includes a substrate for mounting the integrated circuit device and a plastic cap mounted on the substrate to form an enclosed space for the active side of the integrated circuit device. A thermal bond is formed between the substrate and the plastic cap to effectively seal the enclosed space so as to prevent the ingress of moisture or particulate.

5